

Evening Safety Seminar

Why on earth (or in the air) do pilots make critical thinking errors at critical moments? Human mistakes are something we all make, however a significant chain of mistakes can lead to disaster. If you're thinking accidents are something that will happen to someone else and not your yourself, think again - you best attend this seminar.

Directions: This event will take place in the formal conference room on the 2nd floor of the airport main airport terminal building.

A message from the National FAASTeam Manager
